

WHAT WE NEED - UTAH PHILLIPS - 2007

Everyone needs a nice place to live in, and good food to eat that's not too expensive, and clean clothes with no holes or patches.

A doctor to call, an old friend to visit.

A way to get places, parties and music.

A street to walk safely, and benches to sit on with shade in the summer, and warm friendly places to be in the winter.

Some work to do that's useful to others and doesn't get boring.

And someone checking so no one's forgotten.

Money to spend that's given and taken without feeling guilty.

Love without pity.

Pride without anger.

Everyone knows what everyone needs.

But programs, laws, city councils, commissions, agency bureaus can't give it to us.

All of us need the best in each other.

And if we can find it, and if we can give it, the rest will soon follow.

If we all stick together, we'll get what we need.
